

China Int'l Sewing Machinery & Accessories Show 2021 Postponed

To the exhibitors, visitors and relevant entities:

Considering that the Covid-19 pandemic still poses a grave threat, the Organizer has decided to further postpone China Int'l Sewing Machinery & Accessories Show 2021 (CISMA2021), due to take place at Shanghai New Int'l Expo Center (SNIEC) on January 7-10, 2022, to April 27-30, 2022 at Ningbo Int'l Conference & Exhibition Center, after takes into thorough account suggestions and advices from relevant parties, so as to adhere to national pandemic prevention and control requirements, guarantee the health and related rights and benefits of the exhibitors and visitors, and substantially offset the adverse impact on exhibition activities brought by the pandemic.

We feel terribly sorry for any inconvenience incurred by this. Corresponding adjustments of the show are attached; a more detailed plan will be available soon, then the Organizer will positively discuss the same with each and every partner. We hope that exhibitors and visitors can make the most of the extra window of opportunities to refine their attendance plan, and strive to hold a CISMA with untarnished splendor.

Ningbo, a key industrial cluster of the sewing machinery sector and relevant up-stream and down-stream segments, is accessible from all directions, and has favorable pre-conditions for CISMA2021 with respect to exhibition infrastructure, hotel, logistics, etc. We will keep in touch with related parties, take good care of the following issues, and spare no effort to convene a CISMA with unparalleled security and quality.

We couldn't be more obliged to the exhibitors, visitors and related entities for your understanding and consistent support.

China Sewing Machinery Association

November 26, 2021